

FIRST YOUTH CLUB
MEETS WEDNESDAY

The first group to be formed in our new Youth Activities Program is a club for girls 12 and 13 years of age. These girls will hold their first meeting this Wednesday, October 28th at 6:00 P.M. in the Ramaz Library on the ground floor of the Synagogue Building.

Under the leadership of a group worker the girls will meet and discuss the plans for the coming year. Although we envisage a program covering the social and cultural areas, the girls themselves will select their specific activities, officers, and club name.

Girls 12 and 13 years old are invited to this meeting, Wednesday.

PRIMARY CLASS BEGINS THIS SUNDAY

The Special Primary Class for 6 and 7 year olds will be inaugurated this Sunday, November 1st. The class will be held from 10:30 to 12:30 o'clock.

Designed as a pre-school experience this class is aimed to prepare a child to enter the following year into the three day a week Religious School. Under expert guidance the program will consist of stories, songs, games, and Arts and Crafts of Jewish Content. In short the children will not only have a good time but a good learning experience.

You may register your child this Sunday or during the week. For further information call the office.

ADULT INSTITUTE OPENS NOVEMBER 9

The Annual Adult Institute sponsored by our Congregation for its members and the community at large will begin sessions on Monday evening, November 9th.

The Institute Brochure accompanies this Bulletin and includes the complete listing of the courses offered. Aside from the standard sessions in beginning and advanced Hebrew, Liturgical Procedures and Talmud, there are offered courses in Customs and Ceremonies, Jewish History, plus workshops in Choral Singing and Dramatics.

Please note that no course will be maintained unless there is a registration of at least ten students. It is important that those interested immediately fill out and return the convenient reply post card attached to the Adult Institute Brochure.

SUNDAY MINYAN FOR FATHERS AND SONS

Another outstanding Synagogue Activity for its youth and adults is the Father-and-Son-Minyan which meets every Sunday morning at 9:30.

Here is a fine Synagogue program which caters to religious, social, and athletic needs. Adults and post Bar-Mitzvah Boys should be encouraged to take advantage of this activity.

After services, a fine breakfast consisting of bagels and cream cheese, lox, milk and coffee is served. Then there is a play period in the gym.

Rabbi Lookstein will preach this Sabbath at 11:00 a.m.

SISTERHOOD NEWS

Mrs. Alexander Gross, Chairman, and Mrs. Richard Kolb, Co-Chairman, of our forthcoming Chanukah Auction-Bazaar, are asking for the cooperation of the membership at large — of all readers, in fact—in the matter of helping us accumulate merchandise to be sold at the Auction. True a large number of our members are pitching in beautifully in this respect, and a large number, too, are assisting in other phases of activity in connection with the project. But of immediate concern is the necessity of amassing a huge stockpile of merchandise, so that a handsome sum of money may be realized from its sale for the beneficiaries of the affair: the various philanthropic causes supported by the Sisterhood.

Every possible assistance will be rendered by the Committee in charge of the affair, and the Synagogue Office. Please do not hesitate to call if you have a "lead", or if you require some other aid in your solicitation for merchandise. (Please bear in mind that we are seeking NEW merchandise).

Birthdays —

Many happy returns of the day to Mr. Benedict I. Lubell, Mrs. Gideon Heller, Mr. A. Milton Brown, and Mrs. Maurice Finkelstein.

Bar Mitzvah —

Congratulations to our esteemed members, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kobrin on the occasion of the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Richard, this Saturday. Richard is a student of the Ramaz School.

NEW CUB SCOUTS

Cub Scout Pack 640 welcomed into its group the following new members: Marshall Etra, Robert Leifert, Larry Magenheim, and Johnny Mills.

The Scouts extend an invitation to all boys between the ages of 8 and 13 to join them in their well rounded program of activities. Scout meetings are held weekly on Thursday evenings in the Synagogue Gymnasium.

JUNIOR CONGREGATION

For the third successive Shabbos, over forty boys and girls attended the services held by the Junior Congregation.

Prizes are given for attendance, and every Saturday following the service a Kiddush is served. Send your child along to this fine religious activity.

'SOLID GOLD CADILLAC' OPENS AT LOCUST

A new comedy by Howard Teichmann and George S. Kaufman, staged by Mr. Kaufman, settings and costumes by Edward Gilbert, presented prior to Broadway at the Locust by Max Gordon, with this cast:

T. John Blessington Geoffrey Lumb
Alfred Mercalf Wendell K. Phillips
Warren Gillie Reynolds Evans
Clifford Snell Henry Jones
Mrs. Laura Partridge Josephine Hull
Miss Amelia Shotgraven Mary Welch
Mark Jenkins Jack Ruth
Miss L'Arriere Charlotte Van Lein
Edward L. McKeever Loring Smith

By R. E. P. SENDERFER

An audience that packed the Locust Street Theater to the eaves, last night, spent the evening in a state of almost continuous laughter.

The reason was principally a tiny, rotund and altogether captivating little lady who is a commedienne. Like Scaramouche, she "was born with a gift for laughter and a sense that the world is mad."

Her name is Josephine Hull and the world of "The Solid Gold Cadillac," which is the title of the show, is certainly mad—in a nice way, of course. George S. Kaufman, late of Bucks County, and Howard Teichmann, the authors, have seen to that.

All of which is a round-about way of saying that this new satirical comedy, here on its way to Broadway, is one of the funniest shows this town has seen for many a day.

Big Business on the Rack

Mrs. Hull is Mrs. Laura Partridge in the play, an actress of bit parts who is eking out an existence on the proceeds of ten shares of General Products, Inc., one of the biggest corporations in these United States.

Mrs. Partridge, in a moment of inspiration induced by reading her horoscope and finding herself under a favorable sign of the zodiac, attends a stockholders' meeting and starts asking questions. They are easy questions; like: What is the chairman of the board's salary? Just what does he do to earn it? And how much time does he spend at work?

Washington to the Rescue

She is an earnest and naive little lady, and keeps on asking about things until the board finally has a bright idea. They give her a job as liaison officer at $150 a week (they tried to get her for $75 but she upped them) between the corporation (it makes everything from bobby pins to army tanks) and the stockholders (several millions of them.)

From then on, little Mrs. Partridge begins to heap up the water until the corporation finds it too hot for comfort. It wouldn't be fair to give all the ramifications of Mrs. Partridge's adventures as she begins throwing her monkey-wrench into the works but, take it from me, you'll scarcely ever stop laughing.

Particularly, among many other things, when she goes to Washington, on the house, to try to wangle contracts out of the government to bolster declining business, but only manages to start a federal suit and make headlines in the newspapers, which is what she loves—remember she was an actress.

All this is told with that keen satire for which Mr. Kaufman is noted, and some innovations in stage shows; such as real TV news commentators and sidewalk interviews with those concerned—which happens to be Mrs. Partridge and a Washington Big Shot.

What Is It?

As to the play in general—well, it isn't a play, but that's all that's the matter with it. Call it a fantasy, a comedy, a farce, a satire, anything; and you'll be both right and wrong. It's just great fun all the way.

Well, that's about the works; with one last word of warning: Don't go to the Locust during the next two weeks if you have a fever blister or a cracked lip—you'll regret it.
