KASHRUTH HANDBOOK SENT TO CONGREGATION

An attractive, well illustrated handbook on Kashruth is being mailed to all our members with the compliments of Congregation Kehilath Jeshurun.

The Handbook is a highly readable and clear-cut presentation of Kashruth designed to answer most of the questions on the subject brought up in daily practice. The introduction deals with the meaning of Kashruth and the importance of the Kosher home in Jewish life. It provides a definition of just what is meant by the term Kosher.

The pamphlet states what animals, birds, poultry and fish fall in the category of being Kosher. With the expert use of many pictures, it explains how meats and poultry are prepared.

Other topics discussed are dishes and utensils, glass dishes and the use of dishwashers. It goes into the area of packaged food products, the selection of resorts, camps and restaurants and the problem of Hechsher, adequate Rabbinical supervision. There is a section on Passover and a full list of Kashruth vocabulary.

The Handbook is published by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America with which our Congregation is affiliated. It has been acclaimed by Rabbinical authorities and laymen alike.

The Handbook answers the long-felt need for an attractive, concise and highly readable pamphlet on Kashruth. We are sure it will be of interest to our members. If further copies are desired, please contact the Synagogue office.

TWO SABBATH SERVICES OF RARE EXPERIENCE

"Come, let us Welcome In The Sabbath Queen" —

As the days grow longer the Friday evening services are held at a progressively later hour. This means that more people will have an opportunity to take advantage of a unique spiritual experience.

The ushering in of the Sabbath has for ages been the subject of inspired poetry. The Sabbath has been compared to a queen and the Friday evening service welcomes in the Sabbath Queen.

The Friday evening service is not a lengthy one; it takes approximately one hour. Yet, it is replete with a special lyrical liturgy and with melodies which make one actually experience the shedding of the weekday garments and the donning of the Sabbath habit.

The Kabbalat Shabbat, the Maariv service, the Kiddush, the special benediction by the Rabbi and the warm bidding of "Good Shabbos" to your fellow worshipers all help make this service a rare experience.

Bidding Farewell To The Sabbath —

The Sabbath, the day of holiness and rest, is ushered out with all the beauty of ritual with which it is welcomed in.

The Mincha prayers are chanted with a melody used at no other service and whose origin goes back many centuries. Between Mincha and Maariv there is a discourse on the portion of the week given by Rabbi Feder. Then follows the Maariv service which is concluded with the Havdalah ritual.

All members and friends are urged to take advantage of these courses offered.

TWO SABBATH SERVICES

For an experience to have maximum beauty it must begin and end well. The Friday evening and Saturday evening services provide this appropriate beginning and end of the Sabbath day. Because of its significance it is especially important that you bring your children to these services so that they may enjoy, and develop the habit of enjoying, these rare and unique experiences.

As the services of the Father-and-Son Minyan progress along through the weeks, new faces can be seen and new voices heard chanting the prayers and reading from the Torah when the occasion demands.

More and more of the members assume these tasks each Sunday morning, and some of those who have served recently with distinction as cantors and Torah readers are: Morris Amitay, Jerome Bruss, and Franklin Holzer. Three boys who recently made their debut at the head of the congregation are: Harold Keiser, Martin Mayer, and Gabriel Reguer, serving as good examples of the amount of work the fellows can do in a short length of time.

On the culinary level the boys have been devouring everything in sight, but their "benching" has been as enthusiastic as their eating, if a comparison may be made. This is, of course, in reference to the weekly breakfasts which follow the services.

On the sports front, the "Minyan-knicks" swamped a team of Ramaz Alumni recently by the score of 50 to 32 in a basketball game, the outcome of which was never in doubt.

Come down and join us in all of our activities. If you are between the ages of eleven and eighty you are qualified and will be most welcome.
