SISTERHOOD NEWS

Fine Attendance at Luncheon Meeting —

An unexpectedly fine turnout of Sisterhood members and friends attended the Open Luncheon Meeting held last Monday afternoon. The meeting was quite successful.

Mrs. Morton Kamerman, who "pinch-hitted" for Mrs. Shore, did an excellent job. She not only ably covered her material in the book she reviewed, "India and the Awakening East", but she stimulated a great amount of group participation. After her review a discussion was held in which almost everyone joined in and expressed their views.

It was a pleasant surprise to see how many of our members had read the book and how well they were informed on the subject.

At this meeting further plans were discussed concerning the Annual Donor Luncheon which will be held this year on Tuesday, March 30th. Mrs. A. Phillip Goldsmith, Luncheon Chairman, said that invitations and raffle books would be mailed within the week and all present enthusiastically offered their full cooperation.

Next Open Meeting March 8th —

Our next open Luncheon Meeting will be held on Monday afternoon, March 8th. Mrs. Harry W. Baumgarten, program chairman, announced that this meeting will feature a unique program. It will consist of a panel composed of women from different walks of life who will discuss a topic of vital concern to all of us. More information will follow.

SYNAGOGUE HOST TO J. E. C. CONFERENCE

This week end the Jewish Education Committee will hold its 12th Annual Pedagogic Conference in our Synagogue House. This is the second year in a row that our building has been selected as the site of this conference. The Jewish Education Committee plays a vital role in Jewish communities throughout the country. It is a privilege to welcome them as our guests, and we extend our best wishes for a successful program.

The J. E. C. is of special importance to our congregation for many of our members are active on its board. In fact, Mr. Saul J. Lance, our esteemed trustee, is president of the Jewish Education Committee.

The conference theme is "American Jewry At Its Tercentenary — Implications for the Jewish School Program". Sessions will be held this Saturday evening, February 13th, at 8:00 P.M., and on Sunday afternoon and evening, February 14th, at 3:00 P.M. and 7:30 P.M. Dr. Samuel Goodside, supervisor of our Ramaz Lower School, will address the Sunday afternoon session.

All interested members and friends are invited to attend this conference.

OF MINYANS AND MARKS

For the interest of students of human behavior, we record the following observations which should prove sufficiently provocative for further scientific study. To the dismay of many who are concerned, the past few weeks have been spent in undergoing final examinations and, occasionally, in studying for these final examinations. Simultaneously, and here lies the curious observation, there has been an increase in attendance at the Father-and-Son Minyan.

In an attempt to understand this phenomenon, we offer various explanations. Perhaps those students who attended services prior to exams were praying for passing grades. Those who attended after exams may have been making a thanks offering for getting good grades, or perhaps they were repenting for poor grades. It is also possible that, after seeing their marks, some turned completely to religion. We hope these observations incite scientific speculation so that a solution to the perplexing problem is found.

To celebrate the end of exam week at Columbia University, several of our "alumni" attended services last Sunday, January 31.

As has been previously noted in the Bulletin, one of the valuable activities of the Father-and-Son Minyan is the training members receive when they assume the role of cantor and lead the congregation in prayer. One of the boys, Stanley Muss, who recently was cantor for the first time, comes to services from Kew Gardens, Long Island. This he does whenever he is on vacation from Talmudical Academy, where he is a student. Marty Mayer, who has not missed a service all year, also made his debut several weeks ago. Both boys did very well.

Other members who have of late served as cantors are: Morris Amitay, Morton Schatzman, Gabriel Reguer and Fred Ehrman.

Once again we extend a cordial invitation to fathers and sons to join us of a Sunday morning. A rewarding experience is in store. Services are held in the Chapel and begin at 9.30 A.M.
