There are those in this world who live a life of loneliness; who at some moment in their lives strayed from the mainstream of human commerce, and thenceforth followed a path distant from the world around them. Others in our lives live out of their years in mediocrity. Whether by choice or necessity, they serve their time without intruding into the lives of their contemporaries. Their image is beclouded and shapeless, bereft of identity, and in no way distinguishable, one from the other.

Julie Horowitz was shaped from a different mold. G-d touched his life early in his years. Julie's impact upon the passing scene was positive, dynamic and forceful. Julie had identity, substance, a charismatic magnetism, generating warmth and understanding. He loved people. He had that mark of greatness about him; and those who touched his path were enriched by their experience. To him the Young Israel movement was the breath of life. To get involved was his creed, and the spark that gave meaning to his life.

He was possessed with that magic that transferred his enthusiasm, his deep religiosity, his profound philosophic learnings towards traditional Orthodoxy to those around him. It was Julie Horowitz who changed my life from passivity to active participation and strong feeling for young Israel. He scoffed at protests of inability and lack of knowledge. He believed that sincerity was what ruled, and should be the motivation for one's deeds. If you were sincere, he said, none could scoff at your desire to change. Julie was deeply religious in thought, in deed, and in practice. To him, prayer without devotion was like a body without a soul.

He loved children, and he devoted his years to the young of our synagogue. He knew that Young Israel movement was rooted in the young, and that the perpetuation of Orthodoxy depended on them. He spent his time coaching them, with his infinite patience and understanding. And oftentimes, on Youth Shabbos, or on Bar Mitzvahs, he could be seen standing by, giving signs of encouragement, his eyes shining with pride at the accomplishment of his pupils. How grateful are we to Julie for sharing his knowledge with us; a sign of greatness in itself.

Julie was our liaison with the National Council of Young Israel, and became an active exponent in both chapter and parent organization. He was a past president of Young Israel of Parkchester, and was a member of many of our committees. His keen mind had that analytical quality enabling him to wade through a maze of perplexities and complexities, and emerge with the nub of the problem and a solution for it. His wise counsel was sought by all, and the knowledge that Julie Horowitz had "joined the team" would be a comfort and a relief. He pioneered and persevered and gave the necessary impetus to our synagogue in being the first to donate a sum of money to help the Young Israel of Rishon Le Zion become revitalized and a force in Orthodoxy in Israel.

I shall always remember Julie sitting at the feet of our Rabbi Schwartz, in shul, Saturday afternoons, listening as the Rabbi read from the Talmud, interpreting the intricate philosophic passages and offering a running commentary. I shall always remember Julie with his effortless ease in conducting Shabbos services. I shall remember Julie with his weary smile and his endless energy. I shall always remember Julie with his words of encouragement. I shall always think of him as a leader, and of his

Women's League

FROM THE PRESIDENT

I want to thank all of you for the marvelous cooperation you have given me in the last two years. No president could ask for more dedicated and harder working members than the women of the Women's League of Young Israel of Parkchester. I can truthfully say that the past two years have been memorable ones for me.

Thank you again, and on behalf of my family and myself I want to wish you all a happy and healthy summer.

Sincerely,
Sara Kaufman
President

WOMEN'S LEAGUE NEWS

That time of the year has come that makes one lazy and look for excuses to curtail activities. We, of Young Israel Women's League are aware of this and so we find it is time to say G-d speed to those leaving for foreign parts and good swimming to our pool side members. If you have a moment during your sunning summer days have Women's League in mind and think of suggestions to advance our work.

Installation of our new officers has come and gone and we say a fond farewell to Sara Kaufman, who was a truly great president and did much for our league and for our shul. Now it is time to get behind our new president Molly Gewertz and her staff of officers and give her the same support that her predecessors received.

I know all the guests join me in saying "thank you Sara" for the lovely cocktail party. The food was good, the company was swell but that's what one expects from nice people. We had a grand time. We wish the families of Neil Winkler and Joel Kutner who are also members of the Women's League, much happiness and Nachus to both young men on being ordained as Rabbis.

I wish every member of the Women's League, the Men's Club, the Shul, the Golden Ringers a very healthy and happy summer, see you all in the fall, G-d willing.

FROM THE MEN'S CLUB

Elections were held at our annual meeting in May and a new administration of officers was elected for the year 1972-1973. I want to take this opportunity to thank my officers for the wonderful cooperation they have given me during the past year and hope that with the help of the new slate of officers and the members we will have a very fruitful year.

As our season draws to a close, may I extend to my officers, members and their families best wishes for a happy and healthy summer. May we all return in the fall with renewed energy to carry on Young Israel's wonderful work.

many kindnesses and his willingness to share.

Weep not for Julie, for he has served mankind well. Weep not for Julie, for he has accomplished more in his years than all of us may dare aspire to. His imprint upon all is indelible. He was part of our lives and we thank his Irene and his children for letting us share Julie with them. We are thankful for the years we shared together. We shall always cherish his memory!

Our heartiest congratulations to the parents and to the new Rabbis and their Rebbitzens. We know that they will bring pride to all Israel in their endeavors to strengthen Torah Judaism.

Mr. & Mrs. Club

Our Mr. & Mrs. Club has just completed a successful and socially active year. Our last get-together before summer, which was a Folk and Square Dance evening, proved so popular judging by all the comments received, that we hope to make this an annual event. We hope to see many new individuals and couples join our group in the fall and socialize with us in the atmosphere of our synagogue.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank our Rabbi and our President who gave our group their guidance and encouragement.

A happy and healthy summer to all.

*Harvey Erenstein
Chairman*
